Basketball Team Wins

CAPTAIN HARRIS STARS

One more victory was added to those already attained by the basketball team, when Coach Morris and his bunch went over to Greenville and played the High School of that city Friday night. At the end of the game the score was 36 to 30 with the Tigers on the top. A very small crowd witnessed the defeat of the High School boys.

The team came back from the first trip of the season that took in Carolina and P. C. with several of the boys sick and one, Robinson the star guard, injured. He was kept in the hospital for several days, while the others who were bothered with sickness of a slight kind managed to get around in barracks, and they all seem now to be in good condition. It is hoped now that there will be no more injuries or sickness in the basketball camp.

The score does not tell anything much about the game for we are told that the playing of Captain Harris and Watkins was of the best kind and the playing of the entire team made things real lively. From the reports it seems that the Greenville boys played in luck most of the time and just threw at the basket with their backs turned and eyes shut and the ball would roll in. Such playing as this will win many a game but the playing of the Tigers was just so good that they won in spite of the luck of their opponents.

Harris started off the game at one of the forwards and from the first blast of the whistle he made things whirl. His passing and shooting was the feature of the game. He made most of the points for his team playing in fine form. Watkins threw most of the free throws, missing only one or two the entire evening.

We are all looking forward to the games that are to be staged on the local Y. M. C. A. floor. The men are in fine shape now and have played outside enough to give all the experience and chance to see what the other fellows are doing to put them on their toes. When the next contest comes off we should see some real fast and snappy playing. The work of Coach is beginning to show up now and if the team does not take most of their future engagements the corps will be very much surprised.

Most of us know that we have a basketball team but few attend the practices in the afternoons down in the gym. The team likes to see more of you down there for they know then that some one is taking some interest in their efforts. Above all, when the games come off we want to pack that gym and let 'em know that you are there and behind the team to a man. If you can't come, lend somebody your ticket.

"Bliss" Breland is thinking of applying for a patent for some new blood medicine he has recently perfected. He hasn't tried it on himself yet.

It is reported that Freeman is feeding a hog in order to get him in ideal bacon form. He feeds heavily one week and starves the next—thus he gets a layer of fat and one of lean.

FREE TUITION AT STATE COLLEGES

By W. M. RIGGS

Free tuition in State Colleges will come in South Carolina as it has in all the states of the nation except five. The irresistible tide of educational thought and progress will accomplish what argument has thus far failed to bring about. For a long time the idea that the public schools existed only for the "pauper class" hampered their development. It is not to be assumed that the people of South Carolina will for long permit their State Colleges to suffer from a similar imputation. Education like religion is to be encouraged, not discouraged. Entrance into our State Colleges should be free to all.

The position that any class of students in State supported Colleges should be required to pay tuition is no more tenable than that certain children in the public schools should be similarly taxed. The State College is an integral part of the educational system of a State and exists to serve the school system by furnishing trained teachers, and it is a goal for ambitious school children who are to be leaders in the affairs of the State. The school can never be the ne plus-ultra in education.

It is not a sound principle that denies free tuition to a wealthy citizen. Already he has paid taxes in proportion to his means. In fact, his taxes make possible the State Colleges. The doors of such institutions should stand open to rich and poor on the same terms.

In several articles recently appearing in the state press, the interests of the several institutions, State and Denominational, are strongly stressed. These interests are of minor importance compared to the interests of the young men and women seeking an education. The question of tuition should be decided solely with regard to the interest of the people, and the welfare of the commonwealth,—not with regard to effect upon the finances of the College. The State of South Carolina is interested in educating highly as many of its citizens as possible,—not as few as possible.

Education is a great principle, and the more popular education becomes, the easier will it be to fill all Colleges with discriminating students who select their Colleges, not on the basis of money benefit or remission, but on the basis of collegiate ideals and standards. Certainly in a competition on such a basis, the Denominational Colleges of this State have nothing to fear.

ENGAGEMENT OF CADET

It is with pleasure that the "Bottry" bunch, and the corps as a whole, learn of the recent engagement of Cadet John Klenke to a young lady of Charleston. Ceremony pending graduation.

Mr. Klenke is assistant athletic editor of The Tiger, and is a man of sterling worth. We congratulate him and wish for him unbounded success.

TOUGH FOR HIM

"In straited circumstances, is he not?"
"Yes. He confesses that it is about all he can do to keep the wolf out of the garage."

FIRST GAME OF CLASS FOOTBALL

JUNIORS VS. SOPHS.

On account of the extreme cold, the game scheduled for last Saturday was postponed until Wednesday. If the weather moderates somewhat the game will be played, and a fast snappy exhibition should be the result. In spite of the fact that the inclement weather has prevented practice to a large extent, there are three teams in the race that promise some exciting times before the title is determined. At present the teams seem to be pretty well matched and no one will undertake to forecast the results of the coming games.

Many a class game has been won from the sidelines, and often the class that stands behind its team produces the best results—so get out on the field and show your team that you are behind them.

MAKE U. S. ARMY DEMOCRATIC

If an officer caste, a tradition made Samurai without its inborn virtue of chivalry, is reprehensible in a volunteer American army, it is unspeakable in a conscript establishment. It is one thing for a young fellow to take service willingly in an army in which the officers consider themselves the only gentlemen, well nigh the only human beings. It is entirely another and a much worse thing to compel the youth of the land in the impressionable fourth lustrum to submit themselves to an irksome discipline exercised by officers who take no trouble to conceal their contempt for enlisted men.

This may be an unduly severe way of putting it, but from what is commonly talked among civilians, and from what has been said by at least one American officer in the hearings before congressional committees on military affairs, it is not exaggerated. The army regulations themselves are proofs that at least some part of this is eminently true. For army regulations definitely fix the great gulf between the officer and the enlisted man.

Doubtless the majority of army officers are as democratic as the traditions of the service will allow them to be. But the officer's class consciousness, inherited from England where class distinctions have governmental sanction, has no place in the affairs of a republic. As long as it is allowed its present free sway and is encouraged by the laws for the governance of the military establishment, the problem of recruiting for the regular army will be a difficult one—and the establishment of a compulsory and universal system will meet with impassable opposition.

The officers' caste may be necessary to the highest efficiency. France, however, seems not to have found it absolutely essential, for the French army is universally described as the most democratic the world has ever known—and it is no slouch when fighting is in question, either. But, even were it necessary for the greatest development of armed power, America could well afford to lose in technical superiority if it thereby maintained its national spirit of equality and independence.

VOTES FOR WOMEN!

Winthrop is not the only large college that has recently had the pleasure of listening to a talk on that subject dearest to the hearts of many women in this day. Friday morning we were fortunate in having Miss Eudora Ramsey, of Greenville, S. C., a noted suffragette leader, speak to us on the subject that lies closest her heart—presumably. She was doubly welcome, as she spoke far enough into the first hour to prevent classes during that period—and who would not rather listen to an attractive speaker fired with the enthusiasm and zeal for her cause as is Miss Ramsey, than go to classes?

From beginning to end Miss Ramsey's talk was interesting, to say the least. And seldom has the student body had the pleasure of listening to a better delivered argument. If the talk is a fair specimen of what women can do, we predict that 'ere long the public offices will be filled with eloquent women.

During her talk Miss Ramsey brought out several reasons why the ballot should be given to the women. A republic is a government where the laws are made by representatives elected by the people. Is South Carolina not a republic, or do we regard women as other than people? If they are people, should they not help in electing the law makers?

As early as 1848, a body of men and women met in New York state and asked for the following things:

1. Equal property rights.
2. Equal educational opportunities.
3. Equal industrial opportunity.
4. Equal political rights.

The first two of these have been granted. The third has been acceded to in a measure, and today there are over eight million girls and women making their own livings. But they do not get as much pay, and they have no ballot. No body of working men would be willing to give up their vote—why not let the women have the same right. They are just as much affected by legislation, and what is good for one is good for the other. In fact all women are wage earners, but they may be divided into two classes—the ones who draw their pay, and the ones who work, but do not draw pay.

Eleven states have granted the fourth concession, and these states comprise about one-half of the total land area of the U. S. Every National party has a plank in its platform for equal suffrage now, and a man who does not advocate this innovation is now a man without a party.

Miss Ramsey told of a friend who had been at a poll in one of the suffrage states, and had seen one man hold three babies—at different times—while their mothers went in and voted. It turned out that the man was a candidate for office. It was also brought out that while men must leave their jobs to go and cast their ballots, the women can carry their "jobs" along.

Where women suffrage has been introduced, many of the reforms so much needed have been brought about. They do not claim that they will not make mistakes, they only claim to be human, and they want to have a hand in raising the standards of good government in South Carolina.

RESPECT SENIOR PRIVILEGES

The attention of the members of the three lower classes is respectfully called to the conditions under which the Seniors hold their privileges. Lately there has been a decided tendency among underclassmen to "rush it over" Seniors, with the expectation that the Senior will look the other way. But the members of the Senior class are in honor bound to do their duty and uphold their end of the agreement, which is as follows: Not to take undue advantage of the privileges given, to report all unauthorized visiting in barracks between Long Roll and Reveille, to prevent disorder by students whenever it may occur; to prevent excessive, unjust or brutal hazing; to report all offenses which are violations of honor—such as cheating, stealing, false official statements, taking undue advantage of permits or of Senior privileges, to do all in their power to give moral support to sentiment that cadets on duty should carry out their duty without question, including the reporting of other cadets where such reports are a part of the duty, and to discourage the sentiment that the cadet on such duty has any choice in the matter other than to make the necessary reports in carrying out his duty. In other words, to do everything in their power to eliminate unauthorized visiting, disorder, and dishonorable conduct on the part of all cadets.

It is easily seen from the above that the Seniors have no choice but to perform their duty—on honor. It is not a personal question, as some think, but whether they are going to uphold their honor. By the above agreement they are supposed to report among other things, visiting, loafing on post, and unauthorized conversation.

Underclassmen, Seniors do not like to make reports. Most of them would rather take the punishment than make the report. But it's not a question with them—they are in honor bound to do these things, so why put yourself in the position to be reported?

Whew! if that 4 degrees F on Saturday morning wasn't cold, we hope to be spared the pleasure to seeing a real cold snap. But how do you think that 40 degrees below in Montana would suit you?

Gov. Manning has offered the unqualified support of South Carolina to Wilson in any turn that affairs may take. South Carolina has never shirked her duty. She has furnished her full quota of men whenever men were needed, and we don't purpose to go backward now.

If a vote could have been taken at 9:30 Friday morning at Clemson College,

Woman Suffrage would have gotten seven hundred and seventy votes among the corps—the other thirty were in the hospital. And among the faculty—well, all the single men that were there. Several of the married members were detained at home holding their "jobs," while their wives heard Miss Ramsey.

CONCERNING SOCIETY WORK

Clemson College, S. C.,
January 31, 1917.

Editor of The Tiger:

I wish to express through the columns of your paper my laud and congratulations to the members of the various literary societies. Not only for the splendid work that they are doing, but for their esprit de corps. In lieu of the fact that membership is not prescribed in the curriculum nor is it compulsory, they are especially to be commended for their good response. With some students it is optional whether they belong to a literary society or not, but the majority have realized the importance of the art of speaking, debating, declaiming, parliamentary laws, etc., and have answered opportunity's call.

It is quite obvious that in the last few years better work is being done and more of it. This fact is clearly shown by the formation of three new societies in the last few years. More interest and enthusiasm is constantly being shown on a larger scale.

The art of being self-possessed while on the rostrum is an art which only the minority have acquired. Every one should be capable of delivering an address or speech without the promiscuous feeling of stage fright. The students of Clemson now, are the future citizens of the next generation. Principally that is why more stress and attention should be paid to the art of oratory. I take the risk to prophesy that with the coming generation there will be more need for speaking and debating than ever before, due to the facts that the people of America are becoming possessed of greater ideas and plans.

We all want, or should want, to be capable of expressing ourselves in a clear and explicit manner, and not present a conglomeration of ideas to our listeners. Therefore I deem it wise for everyone to belong to a literary society, so that he may get the practice and experience which it offers. Not all speakers can hold the attention of an audience, and the only way anyone can hope to do this, is by constant and earnest practice. Had Demosthenes not tried unceasingly he would never have borken himself of stammering.

Among the chief characteristics of speaking is to be self-possessed. The one way an dthe only way this can be acquired is by practice and experience. It does not take a brilliant mind nor a person of great mental capacity to readily see the importance of a literary society. Not only does a society give training, ability to think, argue well, but it also affords pleasure. The benefits derived from a society are undoubtedly just as beneficial as from any other phase of college work. If each individual would realize the benefits derived from a literary society he would most assuredly give it his most hearty cooperation. The Corps of Cadets may be well proud of the work that the societies are doing, and the spirit with which the work is being done. May they continue to prosper with the same percent as they have of late.

(Signed) One who is interested.

MAKE THE ARMY DEMOCRATIC

Before America can have a genuinely democratic army, such a one as is implied in the phrase of "universal service," the hidebound caste system of officerdom must be broken down. From within there can not be such a reform; the initiative must come from without. Once the stupid idea that a soldier should reverence the officer merely because the latter wears shoulder straps and not from any motive of respect for superior character and attainments is fractured but a little, the officers may be expected to do their part—for the fault is the system's and not theirs. But there must come the break before America can seriously consider compulsory and universal service.

A democratic army of universal service would be valuable to all; one in which young men were herded and forced to bow to inferiority in shoulder straps and leather puttees would be an establishment sapping the very life springs of American independence.—The State.

RECORD TEMPERATURE

Many years have elapsed since Clemson College has had such a spell of weather as we have experienced during the last few days. Thursday shortly after dinner the thermometer registered above sixty. Then the wind began to rise and the temperature dropped steadily and regularly until the mercury was down around ten degrees. All day Friday the temperature was far below freezing, and early Saturday morning the "bottom dropped out" and the mercury showed 5 degrees, which is the coldest that we have felt in quite a long time. However, the professors and others in authority have "had a heart" and we haven't been unduly exposed to the ravages of Jack Frost.

WHAT IS YOUR VACATION TIME WORTH?

Someone has said, "Time is money"; how much are you going to collect in actual cash for your time next summer?

Last summer about ten men from Clemson accepted positions as salesmen with the Aluminum Cooking Utensil Co. Every man who worked as long as thirty days made $75.00. Two men made over $230.00, and one man made $400 during the summer.

During this session Mr. Ebert, a graduate of the University of Virginia, and a representative of the Aluminum Company will give a course in salesmanship here, free of charge to men who can qualify for positions with the company. No previous experience whatsoever is needed, and no cadet who is energetic enough as to want a profitable position for next summer should hesitate to take advantage of this opportunity. The work is highly endorsed by college officials.

If you are at all interested, see Dugar, in Room 132, for further particulars.

NOTICE!

A representative of Strouse Bros. Custom Tailors, Baltimore, Md., will be here at college on February 21 and 22 to display his line of spring and summer styles of clothing and to take measures for any who may desire to order clothes. Delivery made any time between then and June 15th. Call and look over his line. A correct fit and satisfaction guaranteed at a reasonable price.

In his new duties, Mr. McLeod will have twelve chemists under him. We regret to give Mr. McLeod up, but rejoice in his advancement and wish for him much success.—Hartsville Messenger.

FROM THE PHILIPPINES

Well, how goes life at dear old Clemson, you notice the term that I now give the college. A fellow looks at things somewhat differently after leaving Clemson. Everything is very lovely in Malaya. Land, could not be better pleased. Have been in the Islands three months today, so as celebrating by perhaps doing a good stunt.

How goes the "Tiger" this year, trust you have been making a success of it. It has been my intention ever since arriving in the Islands to send you a dollar for this year's "Tiger", but this is a great place for procrastinating. But at last here comes for me. Please send me all the back copies that you happen to have on hand, especially of the football games. Have not heard a word from Clemson this session, can't go it any longer, I know that we romped on Carolina this time.

"Runt" Townsend and I happen to be representing the Class of 1916 in the Philippine Constabulary, a new field I think for Clemson boys, and indeed a fine one. Just ask "Runt" if he is not pleased with the Islands and his work. There will always be interesting and thrilling experiences for young fellows in the Philippines.

Well, so long. Wishing you much success, I am

Sincerely yours,

SOCIALS

Prof. and Mrs. R. E. Lee delightfully entertained the Gargoyle Society Saturday evening at their home. About seventeen of the cadet architects enjoyed the occasion. Several games were played, not the least of which was the peanut race. In this contest "Bub" Kukyendal proved the winner on account of his trained eye and steady nerves. After the games a delicious salad course was served. Music was furnished thruout the afternoon by the Edison. The host and hostess were ably assisted by Mrs. Goodwin and Prof. Wolcott. "Dr." Pittman was also there.

Miss Louise Porcher gave a delightful soiree for her dancing class on Saturday night. The ladies who enjoyed the evening in dancing were the Misses Shanklin, Lee, Doggett, Carroll, Martin, Shields, Furman and Porcher. After "long roll" about a dozen seniors were invited down to the gym, and from all appearances, enjoyed themselves thoroughly.

Mrs. J. P. Lewis entertained at bridge on Friday afternoon in honor of Miss Krane. After a number of games had been played, delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mrs. Jones and Miss Krane went away on Saturday morning.

The Carolina basketball team gave a delightful dance in their gymnasium the night of the Clemson-Carolina game in honor of the Clemson team. Our boys wish to thank our "Gamecock" friends for this courtesy.

Literary Societies

CAROLINA

The meeting Friday night was unusually short. The room was not warm, and Mr. Crumpler made a motion that we elect officers for the following term, and have no regular program. The motion was carried, and the following officers were elected:

Vice-president, Mr. J. P. Derham; Recording Secretary, Mr. T. L. Ayers; Corresponding Secretary, Mr. M. W. Heiss; Literary Critic, Mr. C. E. Barker; Prosecuting Critic, Mr. D. W. McKenzie; First Censor, Mr. J. M. Lupo; Second Censor, Mr. A. C. Corcoran; Sergeant-at-Arms, Mr. A. J. Smith.

These members will take their respective offices Friday night. Mr. A. E. Leslie applied for membership, and was accepted. There being no other business to come before the society, the society adjourned by order of the president.

PALMETTO

The society was called to order by the president, Mr. Murray. This being the night set for the selection of debaters for the annual celebration to be held February 23, the roll call and minutes of the last meeting were dispensed with. The debate was then taken up. The query was, "Resolved, That Congress should prohibit the exportation of foodstuffs from the U. S. during the period of the European War." The affirmative was upheld by Mr. H. H. Felder, while the negative was defended by Messrs. T. S. Buie and W. F. Howell. Profs. Calhoun, Aull, and Myears acted as judges, and selected Messrs. Howell and Buie to represent the society in the annual celebration. The same debate will be used. It was announced that Messrs. S. P. Clemmons and J. W. Parler had been selected in a preliminary as declaimers for the celebration, while the society elected Messrs. J. B. Dick and F. W. Dugar as orators for the occasion. The following marshals were elected: H. J. Nimitz, Chief; E. H. Garrison, B. Breland, C. C. Harman, and B. G. Sitton. Mr. Murray was selected to preside at the celebration, as Mr. Buie, the third term president, was on the program as a debater. The matter of obtaining invitations was left entirely in the hands of the invitation committee. Messrs. W. C. Williams, E. H. Garrison, and G. Bryan were appointed a committee to arrange decorations.

The election of officers for the third quarter was then taken up with the following results:

H. J. Nimitz, Vice-president; H. E. Gaines, Secretary; J. J. Murray, Literary Critic; J. B. Dick, Chaplain; W. A. Meares, Prosecuting Critic; W. C. Williams, Reporting Critic; E. H. Garrison; W. A. Shearer, Reporting Critic; F. W. Dugar, Reporting Critic; B. K. Steadman, Censor; R. M. Barnette, Sergeant-at-Arms.

The society is making plans to have the annual celebration one of the best ever held, and no pains will be spared by the members toward securing this end. Several visitors were present, but due to the lateness of the hour, they were not called on for talks.

COLUMBIAN

The society was called to order by the President, Mr. A. R. Sellers. The devotional exercises were then conducted by Mr. H. H. Willis. After the reading of the minutes for the last meeting, the officers for the third term were elected and installed. The following are the officers for the third term: President, H. H. Willis; Vice-President, M. M. Brice; Recording Secretary, L. W. Burdette; Corresponding Secretary, B. O. Williams; Junior Literary Critic, M. P. Etheredge; Reporting Critics, O. B. Bogs and D. D. Bodie; Sergeant-at-Arms, J. A. Henry.

The following program was then carried out: The orators were G. H. Reeves, who gave a very good oration on "A Democratic Army," and W. S. Hay, who delivered an instructive oration on "Bone Dry Prohibition." The declaimer, J. A. Henry, rendered a very forceful and interesting selection entitled, "The Murdered cannot keep his secret." Mr. Henry is doing very good work this year, and should be an inspiration to the other members of the society. J. W. Conyers, the humorist, furnished the society with some very interesting jokes. The query for the debate was, Resolved, That South Carolina should have woman suffrage. The affirmative was upheld by Messrs. W. C. Bonner and B. O. Williams, and the negative by Messrs. A. R. Sellers and G. H. Aull, the alternate. Good points were brought out on both sides, and much interest was manifested. The judges for the debate, Messrs. H. H. Willis, R. H. Sams, and O. B. Boggs, decided in favor of the affirmative, while the house decided in favor of the negative. Mr. O. L. Hayden, a visitor from the Hayne Literary Society, gave a very interesting talk on "Society Work." By order of the President, the society was then adjourned.

IN OTHER COLLEGES

One of the greatest surprises of the basketball season in South Carolina came Friday when Newberry rushed it over P. C. and won by the large score of 50 to 17. This gives Newberry a splendid chance for the title which they held last year, while it practically eliminates P. C. from the race.

A movement has been set on foot at the University of S. C. to erect a memorial to that distinguished alumnus, Robert Gonzales. The fund has already been started, and is being swelled daily by students, faculty, alumni and friends. The form of the memorial will depend on the amount raised.

Davidson seems to be holding her own in the title race in North Carolina. "Bob" Walker is playing a hard, consistent game at guard.

Class football there is now in full swing. All four classes have teams there, and much interest is being shown.

R. O. T. C. AT V. M. I.

Especially at this time is it of greatest interest to know that the Reserve Officers' Training Corps at V. M. I. is established. Many cadets of the two upper classes have signified their intention of joining one of the three units. The three that have been established are: A cavalry unit, an artillery unit, and an infantry unit. Letters were sent to the parents of the cadets and acceptance of the system was recommended by the Superintendent of the Institute.

Winthrop had the pleasure of hearing Miss Eudora Ramsey talk for some time on her favorite topic. And to judge from reports given out there are about eight hundred full-fledged, eager suffragists at that place. The others are not saying much.

Lives of crooks all remind us
That we can make our lives so blind;
And departing leave behind us
Footprints in the sands of crime.

—C. M. C., '20.

DOUBTLESS

The young author, reading a fake animal story to the attentive editor, said: "Whereupon the woodchuck laughed softly to himself."

"Ah," remarked the editor, "I suppose he indulged in a woodchuckle."

Some sons go to college to get a liberal education, while their fathers stay at home and receive an education in liberality.—Ex.

Clemson Agricultural College

A young man can make no better investment than in a technical education. Viewed merely as a matter of business, even if he has to borrow the money at interest, he will find that his increased earning capacity perhaps even the first year after graduation will be sufficient to repay the loan. It is a poor business policy to wait to earn the money necessary to pay for an education with an earning capacity only one-half or one-third that of an educated man. Every year of untrained, uneducated labor represents a direct financial loss. Every boy of ability and ambition whose parents are unable to pay for his education, should get some friend to indorse his note at the bank and begin preparation that will make for greater earning capacity and a fuller life. There is no time to lose. The world is looking for men of large ability and is willing to pay for them. Already there is a surplus of the one-horsepower variety.

SOUTH CAROLINA'S SCHOOL OF ENGINEERING AND AGRICULTURE

One of the largest and best equipped Agricultural and Mechanical Colleges in the South. 1,544 acres of land. Value of plant over $1,300,000. Over 120 teachers, officers and assistants. Enrollment of over 800. Every county in South Carolina represented. 13 Degree Courses. 4 Short Courses. 2<sup>d</sup> Departments of Instruction. New and Modern buildings, equipment and sanitation. Over $100,000 expended in public service.

VALUE OF A TECHNICAL COLLEGE EDUCATION

A college education is no longer a luxury of the rich, but more a necessity of the poor boy whose parents can give him little or nothing to start on. In earning capacity, it represents at the outset a capital of from $15,000 to $30,000, depending upon the energy, character and personality of the possessor, and the capital increases with every year of its efficient use.

There never was a time in the history of the world when expert knowledge was so much in demand, so indispensable to individual success, and so highly compensated. For the untrained await the positions of low wages, long hours and poverty.

Clemson College brings within the reach of every boy in South Carolina the benefits and possibilities of a technical education. The way is provided whereby, if he have the ambition and capacity for knowledge, he need not continue in ignorance. Here, at a cost lower than at any similar institution, can a young man obtain an education that will prepare him for self-sustaining, self-respecting citizenship.

W. M. RIGGS, President.
